

Inauguration Ceremony is Oct. 1 on Campus

A presidential inauguration ceremony for Katherine Fell, Ph.D., will begin at 3:45 p.m. Friday, Oct. 1, on the front steps of Old Main to kick off Homecoming weekend.

A procession will begin at Croy Physical Education Center and proceed to Main Street and through the Griffith Memorial Arch. At 4 p.m., the inauguration ceremony will begin on the front steps of Old Main. The ceremony will conclude at approximately 5 p.m. with a recesssional through the Arch, and a brief reception will follow on the lawn.

Rain site for the ceremony is the Koehler Recreation Complex.

Community members, faculty, staff and students, as well as alumni, are invited to a welcome reception at the Koehler Complex from 8-9:30 p.m. that evening.

Fell is the University's 17th president. She began her term July 1 after serving as vice president for advancement at Centenary College, Shreveport, La., where she was the chief development officer since 2000.

Fell and her husband, Roger, are the parents of six children.

Additional information about Dr. Fell is available on The University of Findlay website, www.findlay.edu, KEYWORD: President Fell.

Equestrian Festival to Feature Rare Ponies

An equestrian festival and mini-prix jumping competition is Saturday, Sept. 25, at the James L. Child Jr. Equestrian Complex, located at 11178 Twp. Rd. 201 off Olive Street.

Opening ceremonies begin at 12:45 p.m. The final round of the mini-prix jump-off will begin at 2 p.m., with competition beginning at 10 a.m. There is no cost to attend.

Other activities include a pas de deux at 1 p.m. and a quadrille at 1:45 p.m. featuring students from the University's dressage program. A parade of breeds will begin at 1:15 p.m. Additional options include face painting, pony rides, hay rides and barn tours.

Special guests at the farm will include the rare breed Fell ponies, owned by Michael and Beth Knott of Grass Lake, Mich. According to the Fell Pony Society of North America, there are approximately 250 Fell ponies in North America and 6,000 worldwide. The Fell ponies will be introduced to Dr. Katherine Fell, UF president, who coincidentally share a name.

A pas de deux is an equestrian performance using two horses that are trained to perform the exact same movements next to or across from one another. UF students will perform to the music of "Me and My Shadow." The quadrille will feature six students on horses demonstrating a drill.

The parade of breeds will include a Friesian, Arabian, Icelandic Pony, Gypsy Vanner, Drum Horse, Appaloosa, Pony of the Americas, Lipizzan, Standardbred, Hafflinger, miniature horse, Lusitano and the Fell ponies. Owners will be available to answer questions about breeds.

Artwork by students also will be on display.

Many Activities Scheduled Oct. 1-2

UF's Homecoming celebration is Oct. 1-2. Following are highlights of the weekend. More details and additional events can be viewed online at www.findlay.edu, KEYWORD: Homecoming.

Friday, Oct. 1

- 4 p.m., Presidential Inauguration, Front Lawn
- 8 p.m., Presidential Inauguration

reception, Koehler Complex

- 8:30 p.m., Mike Super Magic and Illusion, Winebrenner Theological Seminary
- 10 p.m., fireworks, Davis Street Parking Lot

Saturday, Oct. 2

- 8 a.m., 5K and Little Oiler Fun Run, Front Lawn; registration begins at 6:45 a.m.

- 9 a.m., Alumni Association Annual Breakfast, Winebrenner Theological Seminary
- 11 a.m., dedication of Cory Street Plaza Study Area
- 11:30 a.m., Celebration on the Front Lawn
- 4 p.m., Oilers vs. Indianapolis Greyhounds football game, Donnell Stadium

Illusionist, Magician Mike Super to Perform

Mike Super, magician and illusionist, will perform at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 1, in the Winebrenner Theological Seminary.

Tickets for community members are $5 and may be purchased at the door. UF students, faculty and staff may receive one ticket at no cost with a valid UF I.D. Doors will open at 7:30 p.m. All seating is general admission.

Super won NBC's "Phenomenon" reality television show in 2007 and has been voted 2003 Entertainer of the Year and given other awards by CA Magazine. Super's additional national awards include 2003 Novelty Entertainer of the Year, 2003 Best Male Entertainer of the Year, 2002 Performing Arts Entertainer of the Year and 2001 Novelty/Live Entertainer of the Year.

Super is a member of both the International Brotherhood of Magicians and the Society of American Magicians.

Super's show appeals to audience members of all ages. He uses his personality, style and humor to connect with the audience, which takes part in each show, making Super a sought-after entertainer.

For more information, call 419-434-4606.

Activities for Everyone on Campus

A. Risser Lee

David Harr, director of Sodexo campus services, poses for a photo behind the counter of Derrick's, a new dining facility in the Koehler Recreation Complex.

A. Wright

Tyler Combs and Joy Brothers hand out cookies and information to students at the Student Organization Fair Sept. 15.

C. Faulkner

Members of the Toledo Symphony Orchestra opened the 2010-11 Concert and Lecture Series with a Carnegie Hall pops concert on campus Sept. 17.

A. Risser Lee

Kiyoshi Ueda, governor of Saitama Prefecture, a sister state of Ohio, in Japan; Dr. Katherine Fell, president of UF; Itsuo Koyano, speaker of Saitama Prefectural Government Assembly; and Dr. Fumiko Harada, professor emeritus of Japanese, participate in a tree planting ceremony Sept. 11 to celebrate the organizations' positive relationship with one another.

Students, faculty members and administrators participate in See You at the Pole, a global day of prayer, led on campus by Will Miller, director of Christian ministry.

E. Granger

A. Risser Lee

Billy Watterson '96, founder of several environmental and recycling consulting companies, showed one of his creative solutions: converting waste dog hair from a national pet store into a doggie sweater. His presentation on Sept. 16 was sponsored by the Findlay Green Campus Initiative.

Symposium Will Highlight Why Health Communication Matters

The University will host the second Health Communication Matters public symposium from noon – 1 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 5, in the Alumni Memorial Union atrium.

Panelists include Tara Beitzel, Ph.D., assistant professor of occupational therapy; David Foster, associate professor of organizational communication; Cheri Hampton-Farmer, Ph.D., assistant professor of health communication; and Nathaniel Ratnasamy, M.D., infectious disease specialist. Mark Carroll, associate professor of physical therapy, will moderate the discussion.

John Richey, instructor and director of the health informatics program, will briefly discuss the University's new certificate program in health informatics.

The purpose of the symposium is to discuss health communication and how to make it work for each individual.

The program is sponsored by UF's colleges of Liberal Arts and Health Professions.

Japanese Oral Tradition Performance is Sept. 26 on Campus

Rakugo and katsuben, Japanese oral tradition performance, will be featured from 3:30 – 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 26, in Winebrenner Theological Seminary.

Admission is free. The performance will include traditional rakugo, humorous one-person storytelling, and katsuben, narration with a Japanese and American silent movie. They will be performed both in English and Japanese.

Rakugo is traditional Japanese verbal entertainment. A storyteller, the rakugoka, kneels on a cushion at the center of the stage and depicts a comical story. The rakugoka plays the role of at least two characters by changing his voice, tone, facial expressions, mannerisms, speech and positioning. In addition, the rakugoka uses props to aid in storytelling.

Katsuben is narration of silent Japanese and western films. A katsudo-benshi, or benshi, is the narrator who stands on the stage next to the screen to introduce the story to the audience. The benshi theatrically speaks for the characters and plays multiple roles.

As the film industry developed in Japan in the late 19th century, the benshi became part of the film.

The benshi adds his or her own commentary, in addition to providing voice-overs for the characters on the screen. The benshi often gives a brief lecture about the history of the setting prior to the film. Although this oral tradition gradually lost its popularity, there are a few performers who kept the tradition.

This event is supported by the Japan Foundation, the Center for Global Partnership, The University of Findlay, The Ohio State University and Western Michigan University.

Academic Theater Season Opens Sept. 29

“Dead Man’s Cell Phone” runs at 8 p.m. Sept. 29 – Oct. 2 and at 2 p.m. Oct. 3 in the John and Hester Powell Grimm Theatre. The play is directed by Heather Williams, assistant professor of theater.

Tickets are $5 for general admission, $3 for students and senior citizens and free for UF students, faculty and staff. Call the UF Box Office, located in the Alumni Memorial Union, at 419-434-5335 or purchase tickets at the door.

In the ever-advancing technological world of Facebook, BlackBerrys, iPads and e-mails, the ability to communicate is literally at one’s fingertips. Sarah Ruhl’s eccentric comedy, “Dead Man’s Cell Phone,” theatrically explores what occurs when the need to connect is so vital that it remains alive even after death.

The play centers on Jean, an “ordinary” woman who happens upon a ringing cell phone and its recently deceased owner in a small café.

FYI is published by the Office of Public Information. Send story ideas to Brianna Patterson, public relations officer, at pattersonb@findlay.edu or call 419-434-4345.

If you know someone who has done something “worth noting,” on campus or within the community, send the information to pattersonb@findlay.edu.